Board of Trustees name Schuss FBISD Superintendent of Schools

During a Special Called Board Meeting of the Flour Bluff ISD Board of Trustees on Thursday, September 1, the Board voted unanimously to name Brian Schuss as the next superintendent of schools. The Board approved Schuss for a three-year contract, beginning September 1, 2016.

For the past 8 years, Schuss has served as the District's Assistant Superintendent for Business Services. Prior to coming to FBISD, he was the Business Manager in Port Aransas ISD. Previous to that, his career path took him to the New Mexico State Legislature Finance Committee where he worked closely with the state's Public Education Department. His career in education began in the classroom as an Economics and Secondary Mathematics teacher.

"The Board of Trustees unanimously agreed that Brian was the right choice to be our next superintendent, said Richard Pittman," Flour Bluff ISD Board of Trustees President. "His proven success during his tenure with the District will ensure FBISD continues on its path to educational excellence."

On July 28th, the Board named Schuss as the lone finalist for the top position. Under state law, the Board of Trustees must wait 21 days before officially naming the superintendent of schools.

Schuss will begin his new role as superintendent of schools immediately.
